

Graf acquires SCP Water Management Ltd

We are pleased to inform you that Otto Graf GmbH, the European market leader in rainwater harvesting, has acquired SCP Water Management Ltd.

This acquisition will bring Graf closer to our desired position as a leading provider of sustainable water management systems within the UK. Acquiring SCP with its highly experienced team with in-depth knowledge of both rainwater harvesting and stormwater management systems, enables us to strengthen our expertise and extend our products & services to our customers in the UK.

SCP has long collaborated with Graf as one of its major importers of rainwater harvesting and stormwater management products and systems into the UK. The coming together of both Companies will now give Graf the opportunity to further grow its business within the UK.

We're very excited to make this announcement and we look forward to continuing to work with our customers throughout the UK and Ireland. Our newly combined team provides us with so much more to offer our customers, we are confident many companies and individuals will take advantage of the stronger presence this change will allow us to have in the market for rainwater harvesting, stormwater management and wastewater treatment.

Graf has been a leader in the sustainable water management market throughout Europe for several years now and this merger will now allow us to have the same impact within the UK and Ireland.
